

CELEBRATION AT DELHI BRILLIANT SPECTACLE

Promises to Excel All Previous Events of Kind Held in Orient—Military Programme Curtailed—Durbars to be Held on December 12

(Special to the Capital.) London, Sept. 30.—The Delhi Durbar, which has been found necessary to curtail, will be a military performance of the Imperial Guard in the morning, the grand assembly will afford a spectacle probably never before equalled, even in this home of Oriental display.

Delhi has for centuries been the chosen place for all great Indian ceremonies. The last Durbar was held in 1877, and when the British government after the mutiny decided that it was impossible to continue to rule the country, through the Delhi Durbar, Queen Victoria was proclaimed Empress of India. Her son, King Edward, was thirty years old when he proclaimed Emperor in the same city, and now comes the turn of his grandson, King George.

It is as well known, takes a more personal interest in India's colonial possessions than did his predecessors, and as a mark of this interest has decided to travel to India with his consort to be present at the ceremony which accompanies his formal assumption of the title of King-Emperor.

For the time, the Delhi Durbar will be a brilliant spectacle, visited by a ruling King-Emperor.

Wonderful Procession.

The king and queen will be in India on the new liner "Moolah," which has been fitted up extra well, complete with all the royal trappings. The king will be escorted by four first-class emissaries, the "Gardens," "Argyll," "Inverness," and "Victoria." The king of Sir John Kinnaird, one of the captains of the royal yacht. This Durbar will be held about the middle of November, reaching Calcutta about the first week of December. There will be an official reception at Calcutta and what promises to be a wonderful procession of military and civil services, with Indian regiments in their spectacular uniforms, along the road to the government house. Two days will be spent here, and then the king and queen will be accompanied through the city. The royal party will visit at a special station immediately opposite the historic Kinnaird's gate, which will be opened for the first time since 1857.

Reception at Delhi.

The Durbar proper, or ceremonial gathering, will be held on December 12. The days preceding this will be given over to the reception of the Indian chiefs and princes, a review of troops, and on the day following the king will lay the foundation stone of the All-India King Edward memorial. The proclamation of the King-Emperor will take place in an arena surrounded by the brilliantly bedecked ranks of the princes and officers of the army, and in the presence of an immense assemblage of English and Indian soldiers of King George. WORTHY BROTHER UNDER A MANSUET

JAMES ROLPH, REPUBLICAN IN SAN FRANCISCO HAS PLURALITY OF AT LEAST 16,000.

San Francisco, Sept. 30.—While probably less than a third of the votes in yesterday's municipal primaries had been counted at an early hour today, there was no doubt as to the result. The only question was as to the size of the plurality rolled up by James Rolph, Jr., candidate of the Free Republican and Democratic parties, over P. H. McCarthy, the labor union mayor. Rolph's plurality to succeed Roland, Rolph's plurality over McCarthy was estimated early today at about 16,000, the largest ever rolled in this city by a mayoral candidate. The election resulted in a veritable landslide which swept away such party lines as were left after the adoption of the charter amendment providing for strictly non-partisan municipal elections and carried Rolph into office without the need of a general election. Rolph's charter provisions in his majority of the city today, having received a majority of the total vote cast, estimated at 16,000. The vote of the city today, having received a majority of the total vote cast, estimated at 16,000. Officer in Command Appeals to Minister of War for Permission—Bombardment of Tripoli Stated to Begin at Three O'Clock This Afternoon

Malta, Sept. 30.—It is reported here that the commander of the Turkish garrison at Tripoli has applied to the war minister at Constantinople for permission to surrender in order to prevent a wholesale slaughter of his officers and men. It is considered improbable that the request will be granted and the commander will have the choice of disobeying orders or seeing his men slaughtered.

The garrison at Tripoli is a very small one and is not equipped with modern weapons of warfare and to resist the attack of the Italians is considered foolish. Twelve battleships are lying in the harbor with decks cleared for action. Foreigners have been instructed to retire to safety in the different consulates which will not be fired upon when hostilities commence. It is reported that Admiral Aubrey, commander of the Italian fleet, has announced that he will commence shelling the city at 2.30 this afternoon if the garrison does not surrender in the meantime.

TURKEY APPEALS TO POWERS

Constantinople, Turkey, Sept. 30.—Turkish government today addressed another appeal to the powers, expressing pained surprise at Italy's action in declaring war yesterday and saying there is still time to prevent disastrous and evil effects of war which nothing in the attitude of the Turkish empire justifies.

The porte appeals to the successful humanitarian and friendly sentiments of the powers to assist in convincing Italy of the conciliatory interests of Turkey and so prevent the useless shedding of blood and grief to thousands of families. The government has asked the United States to take charge of the interests of Ottoman subjects in Italy.

The German ambassador to Turkey, Baron Marschall von Bischoff, notified the porte this morning that he had assumed the protection of Italy's subjects and interests in Turkey. The Italians in Turkey number 50,000.

It was reported early today that a Turkish warship had gone ashore near Tripoli. Late accounts state that the crew of the Turkish torpedo boat destroyer which was sunk in the harbor of Provesa in Epirus by an Italian cruiser yesterday escaped.

The war office announces measures to make a rule of martial law more severe because of public excitement. Public meetings and alarmist publications are prohibited and any movement calculated to endanger public order was immediately suppressed by force of arms. Sufficient troops have been stationed in convenient places to meet emergencies.

The committee of union and progress published the following proclamation:

PROVEA IS BOMBARDED

Solokiki, Turkey, Sept. 30.—An Italian naval division today bombarded the seaport of Provesa, destroying the government house and sinking a Turkish torpedo boat in the harbor.

OFFICIAL VERSION OF FIGHT

Constantinople, Turkey, Sept. 30.—The official version of the engagement off Provesa says an Italian cruiser, accompanied by torpedo boats, attacked two Turkish torpedo boat destroyers as the latter were leaving Provesa. One of the Turkish vessels found refuge in Provesa harbor, while the other was struck by several shells and ran ashore. The crew was rescued.

CABLE LINES OPEN

Malta, Sept. 30.—Cable lines to Tripoli are open this morning, but apparently messages from there are being suppressed by Italians who are supposed to be in possession.

RUSSIAN VIEW OF SITUATION

(Western Associated Press)

St. Petersburg, Sept. 29.—The Russian official view of the war is indicated by the Novoye Vremya, which says: "So long as France doesn't protest it is a matter of indifference to Russia who occupies the North African coast. Russia, further has no cause to commiserate. The Young Turks, by perturbing the hostile and contemptuous attitude towards Russia, sowed the wind and they are now reaping the whirlwind."

CHASE TURKISH DESTROYERS

Athens, Sept. 29.—A government despatch from Vozitza says that six Turkish torpedo boat destroyers were attacked and pursued by the Italian squadron cruising off Prevoza. One was wrecked at Nicopolis and escaped into Prevoza, and the other into the open sea.

TO FIGHT THE TURKS

(Western Associated Press)

Boston, Mass., Sept. 29.—A dozen Albanians who have been living in Worcester have left for New York to sail for Greece, whence they expect to go to Tripoli to fight the Turks.

The hours for handling in letter-grams to the telegraphic office are between 7 p. m. and midnight.

The ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents in Gramercy Park.

FAIR AT TOFIELD DREW LARGE CROWD

EXHIBITS WERE WELL ABOVE STANDARD—ATTENDANCE PLACED AT 800.

(Special to the Capital.) Tofield, Sept. 30.—Tofield's annual fair was held yesterday and from every point of view it was a pronounced success. In the brick buildings there were a large number of entries many of which would have ranked well with the best shown at the large fairs in Edmonton and Calgary.

The grains, grasses and vegetables showed up well and the poultry was judged by the judge, G. W. Warner, as some of the best he had ever seen, the only thing lacking in the department being that there were not enough exhibits to truly show what the district is capable of producing.

An excellent programme of sports which proved very interesting, was held off the course in some of the events being especially keen. It is estimated that between 800 and 1,000 persons were in attendance and is considered a very good turn out considering that at this time of year the farmers are very busy.

JEWELRY STORE ON NAMAYO IS ROBBED

Thieves Gain Access to Store by Breaking Window Bars with Hammer—Booty Valued at $3000—Left a Note of Thanks to Proprietor—Police Arrest Four Suspects But Fail to Find Any of Stolen Goods

"Thanks Mr. Shaw for the jewelry" was the note left on the street near J. C. Shaw's jewelry store which was burglarized about 1 o'clock last night. The burglars getting away with $2,400 worth of rings and watches, from the show cases in the store after breaking down the window which was boarded up with iron bars from the inside with a hammer. More than 200 gold and gold filled watches, two diamond and several hundred diamond rings were removed. Four arrests have been made by the police this morning.

The burglars were seen to leave the store about 12:15 o'clock last night through a rear window and it is believed that the most valuable articles were taken.

In spite of the fact that they made sufficient noise to be heard over the street across the street where they were, the occupants of the flat three stories overheard, nobody attempted to make any inquiry as to what was being done. Not only did the people living in the store but they neglected even to notify the police.

The first noise was heard by the people over head first, about 12:15, and continued for some time. At three o'clock two men, the name of whom is confidentially withheld, entered the store and noticed that the small light which had been left burning was out. They did not think the matter suspicious, however. In the morning when Mr. Shaw arrived at the store the light was burning.

Shortly after 6 o'clock this morning a barber who works across the street noticed that the article in the window were upset. He went to Mr. Shaw's residence and told him about the burglary. Mr. Shaw immediately notified the police.

Up till a few days ago, Mr. Shaw had been living in the rear of the store, but he had been moved to his new residence. When he left the store last night he was uneasy about leaving it unoccupied and put the cases of jewelry in the safe. The burglars did not enter the store and he left it out except two small trays of very valuable diamond rings. The burglars did not take the note of thanks to Mr. Shaw was written was a credit slip taken from some other store. It was unusual in that the paper was yellow instead of the ordinary white paper.

Detectives Simpson, Seymour and Coleman are working on the case and have until Monday as the arrest of four whom they believe to be implicated in the crime. There will probably be further arrests this afternoon.

ON SUNDAY IN OMAHA.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 30.—President Taft will arrive here at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning and will remain in the city until Monday as the guest of the Omaha club. THE MILITARISM OF EUROPE

Italy has declared war on Turkey and already the cannons are booming in the Adriatic. What the outcome will be is too great a riddle to even guess. It may be a general European war which will change the whole map of it may be only an outburst of a few days' duration. But certain it is that Europe for the past three decades has been preparing for war and with every nation on a war basis and the military spirit predominating every court and every government it needed only a spark to start the conflagration. If other nations become involved in the present trouble it is scarcely possible that hostilities will cease until every nation in Europe has exhausted its every resource of men and money in a conflict of destruction which will make Napoleon's wars of a century ago look tame by comparison.

... The untold suffering which must come with such a conflict, the wreck and ruin of the greatest civilization the world has ever known, the resort to carnage and barbarism, presents a picture of possibilities which no normal mind can regard with anything but the deepest sorrow and regret.

On this side of the Atlantic, it is to be hoped, we are safe from entanglement, and all good Canadians will hope that Great Britain manages to keep clear of the conflict.

Nations, like men, which live by the sword must die by the sword. The militarism of Europe may move the centre of the world's civilization to the North American continent.

A PRACTICAL ADVANTAGE ARISING FROM AMALGAMATION

One of the advantages to Strathcona which comes with amalgamation, but which has so far been overlooked in discussion of the unification of the two cities, is the very practical one that in the loan companies' lists of investment ratings Strathcona will hereafter be rated the same as Edmonton.

As everyone in the financial and building line is very well aware, Edmonton enjoys a very favorable position in the matter of loans, especially so in respect to the loans offered on residential property. In this city loan companies are lending anywhere up to 60 per cent, on desirable residential property.

Strathcona aims to be a city of homes, and with the construction of the high level bridge an enormous area of residential property within reasonable distance of the business section of Edmonton will be opened up for occupation as home sites.

Given the same ad intage in the money market, the south side of the river is bound to become the residence district for a very large part of the population of the twin cities. That not inconsiderable section of the Strathcona public who opposed amalgamation possibly overlooked this point.

A CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY AND THE EMPIRE

On the heels of the conservative victory the first delegation to reach Ottawa seeking from the newly victorious party an advance in the tariff was from the woolen manufacturers, who asked that they be given greater protection to offset the effect of the British preference.

Ontario is the great protection province of the Dominion. Ten per cent. of the people of the province of Ontario die of consumption. In some counties the average is 20 per cent. The most potent cause of consumption is the lack of good, warm woolen clothing in the raw, damp winters in the lake country. To raise the tariff would increase the cost of woolen goods and make it just that much harder for the pondering majority to whom the cost of living is a vital consideration to buy warm woolen clothes.

To raise the tariff on woollens or anything else such a way as to offset the British preference would be to violate all the implied promise of conservatives when they asked the electors to reject the reciprocity arrangement so as to not endanger the integrity of the empire.

An increase on the woolen tariff would be a crime against humanity and the empire.

Ontario, the province which is most blindly protectionist, is the country which would suffer the most severe penalty of death and desolation from the great white plague. The simple fact that the woolen manufacturers who time and again have vainly besought the liberal government to raise the tariff on woolen goods rush at once to Ottawa without awaiting even the formation of a government indicates that among themselves they believe Borden is ready to commit the crime of giving them a special privilege which the liberal government persistently refused.

The matter is in Borden's hands and the public have a right to form their judgment of Borden on his actions in this the first appeal to him to violate the principles on which he was elected.

JUST PARAGRAPHS

The Duke of Connaught is due to arrive in Quebec on Friday, the 13th. But he is lucky to be coming to Canada any day.

Those people who imagine Borden will hold another election within two years in order to give the west its proper representation are to be congratulated on their credulity, even if they are a trifle dense in the political sense.

CHIEF LAUDER'S BACK FROM EAST

ATTENDED INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION OF FIRE CHIEFS IN MILWAUKEE.

Chief Lauder returned to his duties in connection with the Edmonton fire department yesterday after being absent from the city for three weeks attending the Ontario provincial fire chief's convention which was held at Milwaukee from September 19th to 22nd, and attended by about 1000 people including the representatives of the various manufacturers of fire fighting equipment and the delegates from Canada and the United States.

Every conceivable variety of fire fighting apparatus was on exhibition in Milwaukee for the benefit of the firemen assembled there, according to Chief Lauder. A practical demonstration was given of the working of the largest fire ladder ever constructed, in the immense auditorium of the building in which the convention was held. Papers were read on the fire fighting by some of the most noted fire chiefs of America including ex-chief Edward P. Grover of New York City. On his return to Edmonton, Chief Lauder stated that although he had seen excellent fire fighting equipment in some of the larger cities of Canada and the United States during his trip he believed that in proportion to its size Edmonton had as complete and up-to-date an equipment as any city on either side of the line.

POLICE FIND NUMBER OF STORES UNLOCKED Advise Merchants to Lock up Premises to Avoid Their Being Entered by Prowlers.

Several cases of store doors having been left open by the proprietors on leaving their premises for the night have been reported by the police during the past few weeks. This has occurred with stores of nearly every description with the exception of jewelry stores, which the police state, the owners are particularly careful to lock securely before leaving them after the day's business. A case that indicated gross carelessness on the part of the store owner was discovered by a night policeman last evening. In the door way of a mercantile establishment in the business section he found a bunch of keys hanging, which the proprietor evidently had forgotten to take away with him. The door was unlocked but on entering the store the policeman found no signs of theft.

A grocery store of which the door was left unlocked was entered a few nights ago and someone helped himself liberally to some rice porridge, leaving everything else untouched.

SETTLERS FLOCK TO BULKLEY VALLEY

PRINCE RUPERT NOW HAS A POPULATION OF 5000—MERCHANTS OF COAST TOWN VISITS CITY

Settlers are flocking to the Bulkley valley and other lands in the interior of British Columbia that will be given railway transportation facilities by the Grand Trunk Pacific, according to J. Drevo, a Prince Rupert merchant, who is in the city today a guest at the Alberta hotel. Mr. Drevo has been engaged in business as a general merchant in Prince Rupert during the past four years and he is now on his way to visit his family in the east.

"The lands in the interior of British Columbia are well adapted to the raising of vegetables and fruit," he said to the Capital this morning. "Settlers have been making use of the completed section of the national transcontinental to go in and occupy the lands and for some time there has been a steady movement of settlers through Prince Rupert to the interior."

Mr. Drevo said that there are now about 5000 people in Prince Rupert. Since going to the new coast city he has seen it grow to its present proportions from a town of a few hundred people. He believes that in the not far distant future it will be one of the leading cities on the Pacific coast.

PRESS AGENTS SAY

ALICE NIELSON COMING.

Alice Nielson, the prima donna soprano who is now looked upon as the foremost feminine singer in her own country, has added critical New York to her list of cities where she has sung. Her first extensive concert tour of the United States and Canada, it is expected that will add to the laurels she has already won in large measure.

The prima donna will be heard in a number of important solos for soprano to be selected from the most popular species.

Although Miss Nielson's voice is a lyric soprano it is an instrument of splendid carrying power and in those areas calling for dramatic climaxes of tone she is declared to invariably give the selection demanded. The soprano will sail for this country in time to report for her first concert in early October.

Miss Nielson will be accompanied by Ricardo Martin, one of the greatest of living tenors and five other grand opera artists, all soloists with the Boston grand opera company, and the greatest musical treat, Edmonton has ever had is promised for Friday next.

In spite of the high repute of the artists coming here, the prices have been kept commensurately low, the highest price being three dollars, with the exception of the four boxes which are placed at twenty-five dollars each. The seat sale has opened at Heinemann's music store on Jasper, around which there is already a considerable demand for them.

Nielson, who sings in Edmonton on Friday, October 6 at the Thistle rink, is one of the few Americans who have impressed in the most eminently satisfactory manner from the stage occupied by Caruso and other great artists of the operatic world.

Many commentators declare that Miss Nielson's singing and dramatic impersonation of Mimi in "La Boheme" to be one of the best and most finished interpretations of a role on the stage. At the Boston Opera house, where she has sung, her soprano roles for the past two seasons, Miss Nielson is ranked as a singer of the highest calibre.

In the principal cities of the United States, where she has appeared with the San Carlo Opera company, and later with the organization from Boston, this young American has convinced her hearers that she is destined to reach at an early day, the same position of eminence which was hers when she was the recognized queen of light opera.

Her voice has grown in volume and in beauty of quality, according to competent authorities and during this, her first extensive concert tour of the United States and Canada, it is expected that will add to the laurels she has already won in large measure.

GERMANS FEAR LOSS OF CAPITAL

IS ONE REASON WHY THE NATION WAS NOT ANXIOUS TO FIGHT FRANCE.

(International News Service)
Berlin, Sept. 29.—On the occasion of one of those demonstrations of which he was so fond of indulging when the small of gun powder was in the air, Bismarck declared: "We Germans, after all, have the best nerves."

The Iron Chancellor, if fancy would have revised his boast that he weathered the weeks of alarm through which his Fatherland has just passed, Bismarck on the house runs on savings banks, rumors of murdered ambassadors, of mobbing of drug stores and of recitations of war, severe headlines, or ruptured relations with France, would have been a welcome sight to the stoutest of us. These are some of the manifestations which have agitated the German public mind for the past three weeks.

To do these justice, the Germans are not untruthful as much by the fear of the war as by the endless uncertainty which has embroiled the Moroccan business since the Agadir coup. The losses which German finance has suffered since the Panther dropped anchor in Moroccan waters, can only be reckoned in millions, represented by shrinkage in Bourse values.

It will take a lot of "frank" in Morocco to make up for the damage Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter has contrived to cause during these past ten weeks. It is no secret that the great captains of the German money world have been working the hardest for peace in Berlin.

SURVIVOR TOPICS FROM GREATER NEW YORK

City Will Lose Another Noted Landmark Soon—Coney Island
Season Closes—Young Kansan Is in Toils—
More Theatres to Be Erected

New York, Sept. 29.—Within a few weeks New York City will lose another famous landmark, closely connected with the early history of lower Manhattan. St. John's Chapel, the noted Episcopal house of worship in Varick Street, the cornerstone of which was laid in 1803, will be torn down to make room for the widening of Varick street and the extension of Seventh avenue. The street improvements, which are undoubtedly much needed, were decided upon by the city some time ago and the work will soon be begun. The chapel, which is the property of the Corporation of Trinity church, was considered by architects a specimen of the British Georgian period. The chapel, which cost about $174,000, a large sum for that time, was dedicated in 1807. It contained a fine organ built in Philadelphia, which cost $6,000. In 1812 the fine instrument was carried away by a British cruiser and was recovered only after the payment of a $2,000 ransom. Among the distinguished families which used to worship in the chapel in the early days were the Vesey, the Vandevoets, the Claibornes and the Livingstons. After fifty years an alarming evulsion of families of rank began. The leading citizens, one by one, removed to less crowded localities in the northern part of the island and warehouses took the place of the handsome dwelling houses. In this Trinity vestrymen decided that the chapel had outgrown its usefulness and steps were taken to sell the property. The chapel then had 737 communicants and 1068 baptized persons connected with it. The action of Trinity called forth a torrent of criticism, and the legal fight went to the supreme court. In the end the Trinity vestrymen agreed to keep the chapel open so long as it appeared that there was a religious need for the work.

The closing week of the Goney Island season, with its scattered carnival, is a thing of the past and the decent citizens of New York, sincerely hope that the "Goney" is just dead. It will have been the last ever held in Goney. Ever since this carnival feature was introduced here the numbers of the amusement places, hotels and restaurants in Goney Island, the closing week of every season was scarcely less than an orgy of roystering, licentiousness and lawlessness. In general, this year the conditions were far worse than ever before and the scenes at Goney during the closing week were chaotic and riotous. Women were insulted and subjected to violence, children kicked about and trampled on, while the men belonging to the decent and law-abiding class were utterly helpless in their efforts to put a stop to the roystering and to protect the women from insult and abuse. The police, although a small army of them were on the ground, were absolutely helpless and utterly unable to suppress the excesses of roystering. The newspapers have taken the matter up and a determined effort will be made to put an end to such disgraceful scenes during the closing weeks at Goney Island in the future.

Bookkeepers and grocers are liable to get any person in trouble, particularly when that person is an offender against the law. A young man, who claims to be from Kansas, asked a saloonkeeper in Newark the other day to cash a check for $25 for him. The saloonkeeper, with an eye for business was willing and gave the young man $25.00, all he had to spare just then and asked him to return later for the rest. Later in the day the young man, fringed by his capacity, actually returned for the balance. The saloonkeeper, however, had learned in the meantime that the check was worthless. He did not expect to see the young Kansan again. When the westerner came for the balance the saloon-keeper had him promptly arrested.

The house of a wealthy Flatbush resident, who is still with his family at their summer home near Brewster, N. Y., was visited by burglars the other afternoon. Before going to his summer home the owner of the house had placed all his valuables into storage, leaving only the heavy pieces of furniture in the house. The burglars who had expected to make a big haul, were so disappointed, that in their fury they wrecked every piece of furniture in the house, doing considerable damage. But there was absolutely nothing for them to steal.

Somebody evidently thinks that New York is not sufficiently supplied with theatres, for several lots on the south side of West Forty-fifth street were sold the other day to some person whose name is kept secret and who intends to erect upon the ground a new theatre. There are rumors in circulation which connect the name of nearly every prominent man with the project, but all of them plead guilty and this puzzling uncertainty is causing a great deal of talk and speculation in the theatrical circles.

Two boys, one of them five, the other nine years old, were brought before the children's court the other day on a charge of larceny. They were arrested in the house of a retired merchant, into which they had broken and had stolen several hundred dollars worth of jewelry, bracelets and clothing, all ready to be taken away, when they were surprised by the police. The young offenders indignantly and proudly confessed their guilt and steadfastly refused to disclose the identity of two other boys who, they said, had induced them to break into the house, promising them $1 each in view of their youth the boys were paroled in the custody of their parents.

More than a week ago a young scamp of about seventeen years held up and robbed a Brooklyn tobacconist. The tobacconist's daughter, a little girl of ten years, who was an eyewitness of the hold-up, saw the young highwayman on the street the other day. Without saying a word to anybody she called up the nearest police station by telephone and asked that a detective be sent to her assistance. When the man of the law arrived the little girl pointed out the young highwayman and had him arrested. When the offender was brought before a magistrate, his counsel, making a strong plea for the boy, asked the tobacconist to consent to a parole. The tobacconist was willing, but his daughter insisted that he be punished and it required a great deal of persuasion to induce her to relent. It was the mother of the prisoner who won the girl's consent, after she had promised that her wayward son should report every week not only to the officials, but also to the girl's father.

BRITISH OWNED RAILROAD IS NOW MAKING PROFIT

Celestials Near Shanghai Are Pleased With Railway and Traffic Receipts Exceed All Expectations—No Serious Accidents Since Company Took Charge

(By Edward Young.)
Shanghai, Sept. 30.—It is now eleven months since the British section of the Kowloon-Canton Railway was opened for traffic. With the exception of some initial difficulties, with the rolling-stock, everything worked smoothly up to the present. There have been no big floods in that region, no serious landslides, no derailments, and no accidents in involving injuries to passengers or others. This is very a good deal for a new line with heavy embankments cut outtings in a different country, and worked mainly by natives with no previous experience of such matters.

It appears also that the traffic receipts have greatly exceeded expectations, that the natives, to whom, generally, time seems no object, have shown a napprehension of improved transport facilities, which has been a delightful surprise. As well as the service of three trains per day night with advantage he increased. If it were the country beyond the Kowloon hills might be opened up as a residential district. When the through track to Canton is completed the prospects of the venture should be still rozier than they are at present. As for the success which has been achieved by the railway is pleasant reminder.

There has been a strike of Chinese shipbuilders at Hong Kong. It does not appear to have been a serious affair, but has manifested a new and industrial phenomenon. This is the constant interference on the part of natives in all and every kind of business in which Chinese are at largely employed. It is not a genuine but a vil-lated form of trade unionism—one which seeks only one end, and that the gratification of the workers irrespective of justice to the interests on which they subsist.

No Secrets About Unionism.
In Europe and America there is nothing secret or mysterious about the working of trade unionism; everything is open and above board; the motives of the members are known; the officials' names and positions are never hidden from view. Here the reverse is the case under all hands. In short, the Chinese guilds in Hong Kong, are nothing other than secret societies, which, by the law of the Country, are in reality not permitted to exist. An appeal is made to the government to take a new and bold line, and end out the tyranny to which so many firms are subject.

Increasing bitterness is being aroused by the espionage to which the Chinese government has not regard since the troublesome Canton boom. It is little wonder, if it were the things which appear in the press are true, that their way into private houses, and ransack the rooms on the plea they have been sent to search for arms. Sometimes these are robbers pure and simple, in other cases soldiers filling the houses with loot, and the conditions of society no one has ventured to lay charges against the military. But the resentment is now the less strong.

Riot in Prison.
The inquiry into a riot in the Yau wai prison, the result of the inquiry was that two men introduced into the prison car had been recognized as spies. The prisoners, manacled to their were, threw themselves upon these two men, and but for the interference of the warders, they would have been beaten to death by the prisoners, irrespective of the consequences.

It appears that the spies are induced to take up the work by the promise that if they have succeeded, not only primary benefits, but official emoluments and pensions will follow. It is this to their interest to discover something which will make good a claim both to the rewards and to the promised official advancement.

Their last expedient is said to be the creation of rumors that members of the society of their society. It is hoped in this way that someone really in the know will be a rash enough to reveal the truth, and that a clue will be given to something really important and as justify further arrests.

Japan's Armament.

A vicious controversy has been proceeding in the Japanese press as to the policy which it is desirable that Japan should pursue in the future with regard to her armaments. There are three schools of controversialists. One takes the line that a strong navy alone is required, that if Japan has ships enough she can not only guard herself, but also provide for a moderate margin of expansion, and England should be taken for a model in these matters. The second school contends that unless Japan is willing to recognize herself as abandoning her enterprises in Manchuria, to give up Korea, and stopping a policy of general expansion, her only ability, taking for a model standard of comparison the power which is in a position to place the largest maritime fighting force in the Far Eastern waters—America for a military standard the state which can muster the most powerful paissant army in East Asia, i. e., Russia.

The line adopted by the third body of controversialists is to urge the wisdom of silence. To increase in public discussion on such points, say these, is to expose one's weakness.

China's New Army.

Meanwhile China's new army is now in the hands of the "Japan Mail" points out to be a source of divisions. The journal promises, means three divisions each for the eastern provinces of China proper, and three divisions each for the three eastern provinces, that is to say, Manchuria.

It is a source of a division on a war footing at 20,000 men of arms, this would provide about a million and a quarter men, a force by which China would rise at once from military insignificance to a position of a great independent power. It is a source while that Russia, which in one of the countries at which the new army of China is aimed, has doubled in the troops on the Far Eastern frontier, if a comparison is made with the present situation in the Japanese. The distribution of her standing army of thirty-seven divisions is roughly according to "Yen Ching" (whose specially written utterances are quoted in the Tokio press) in Europe sixteen, in the "Yen Ching" frontier, three divisions; on the Indian frontier two divisions; on the Far Eastern frontier, six divisions. In the center between these various outposts there are seven divisions, always ready to march wherever they may be needed.

As regards the number of men stationed in the Far East, including the railway guards, nominally they amount to eleven divisions, but are in reality equivalent to only two divisions. "What Russia's ultimate object may be in stationing such a big force in this part of the world," says the journal, "It is not easy to determine. She evidently means to be ready for emergencies which they occur. But the notion that she has in contemplation a war of revenge on us does not appear to be tenable. What is the general, within the next few years nothing could be more probable than her resort to such a measure."

Japan has entered upon what appears an important scheme of educational reform. She has had for the last seventeen years a system of high schools, founded with the double purpose of giving technical education to the graduates of the middle schools and preparing them for the university course. But when the Technical College ordinance was enacted in 1903, technical colleges and the high schools became more preparatory schools for students about to take courses in the universities. A great part of the object for which the schools were founded was thus lost. By the new scheme these schools are to be increased to twenty, and they will be used for the "universalization of higher common education."

At present there are 700 to 1,000 students on the roll of each; under the new scheme the number will be limited to 150. The curriculum of the middle schools is left practically intact, and the arts of fencing and judo have been included. As to elementary schools, the daily school hours have been extended to six, and practical business lessons have been included. Private middle schools and technical colleges are fairly numerous in Japan, but many of these stand on a weak basis.

The new ordinance, however, requires private schools to possess sufficient funds to maintain themselves and makes other "tightening-up" regulations. The high school course will not be reduced by a year without the standard of the curriculum suffering, and improvements have been made to establish a better connection between the middle schools and the higher middle schools.

The C.P.R. will build a depot in Telf.

ESTIMATES INCLUDE STRATHCONA WORK

FORMER BUILDING INSPECTOR WILL COMPLETE NEW BUILDING BY-LAW.

In preparing the estimates of multiple expenditure for the coming year, the work that is to be carried out in Strathcona in accordance with the terms of the amalgamation agreement will be taken into consideration. Estimates will be submitted on the cost of the street railway extensions, not of the local improvements to which the council of this city is pledged under the terms of the agreement.

"I think that it is up to this city to carry out its agreement with Strathcona in every particular," said Mayor Armstrong in this morning. "We must prepare estimates for the construction program in the university now, and not leave the work over to be covered by supplementary later in the year." The new building by-law is to be completed by E. H. Gottrell, formerly building inspector for the city. Mr. Gottrell has written the commissioner asking a bonus of $250 for the night work which he found it necessary to put in during his term of office in the preparation of the voluminous by-law. The letter was referred to Mayor Armstrong application with the suggestion that the city should make him take the matter up with Mr. Gottrell and arrange terms for the completion of the by-law by him.

"Telegram and letter received, Gungu well and safe. There have been serious disturbances in country. The following have arrived at Chungking: Dr. Cox, Rev. J. W. Henderson, Rev. R. E. S. Loney, Mr. Mindenhall, Rev. J. W. Sparling, Rev. E. C. Walford and the Misses Siderlin, Evans and Smith."

HOMESTEADERS ARE RETURNING TO CITY

Chief Reason for Leaving Country is in Order That Their Children May Go to School.

A wagon loaded high with settlers effects—beds, tables, chairs, bedding and dishes, milk pails and other things—bound on with a perch, clanked with a creaking pole, and on the top of which is perched a homesteader and his family, while a cow or two tethered to the wagon, brings up the rear, has become a familiar sight on Edmonton streets within the past few weeks. It is the homesteader returning to the city for the winter months.

They are coming in large numbers and filling every available vacant house in the city. As a rule the people coming in from the country are settling in the outskirts. Some are erecting shacks on lots they have purchased. Others are renting houses that have been erected on speculation by contractors during the summer.

One of the main objects of opening the winter months in the city is to give the children an opportunity of attending school and for this reason it is chiefly the men with families that are to be seen trekking into Edmonton. The school authorities are anticipating a marked increase in school enrollment in the city and preparation for it is being made in the erection of one or two temporary school buildings in the section of the city where the increase will be greatest. Teachers will be called shortly for the erection of a temporary building beside the one now in operation in better which will be made ready for occupation as soon after November 1st as possible. Provision of this nature may have to be made in other parts of the city.

ITALY'S TROUBLE WITH ARGENTINE A TRIVIAL AFFAIR

Former Country Objected to Her People Settling in Latin Republic of the South—Many Migrants Yearly to Brazil—A Mere Question of Sanitary Inspection

(By W. Hamilton Rhodes.)
 Another "don't touch" "don't touch" case. The dispute which has arisen between Italy and the Argentine Republic on a mere question of sanitary inspection has, on the one hand, been the cause of a small fight and on the other, it arouses the suspicion that the Argentine government is not content to be the world. The opinion that there is something more serious than the Italian border has been out by what has long been known of the relations of Italy to the Republic of Brazil in regard to this same matter of emigration. Some years ago, when no question of sanitary inspection had arisen, Italy forbade "free emigration" to Brazil. It could not, of course, prevent the Italian who chose to pay his own passage from going to any part of South America. But it could forbid "free emigration" that is to say, the hiring of Italians in Italy to go to Brazil with passengers out and back to be paid by Brazilian employers. And this was done by the Primiti decree. Similar measures were taken by France and Germany.

Brazil has succeeded in obtaining the withdrawal of the French and German prohibitions. But the effect of these countries supplies little or no labor. The emigration from Germany is a peculiar thing, not in a small sense as compared with the Italian, Brazil has so far failed to obtain the repeal of the Primiti decree, which has, on the contrary, been reinforced by this last decision to stop free emigration to the River Plate for Uruguay and Paraguay are affected as well as Argentina. Italy and in a less degree Spain, emigration to South America is largely transitory. The Europeans go sometimes to take in the coffee harvest in the Brazilian provinces of Sao Paulo, and then go on to the River Plate to take in the wheat and maize harvest, before returning to Europe. A larger number so direct to Montevideo and Buenos Aires.

When it is borne in mind that, of 48,769 immigrants who landed at Santos in 1909, 41,959 left at the close of the coffee harvest, and that, while 92,525 Italians landed at Buenos Aires in the same year, 51,612 left the country, the character of much of this emigration will be obvious. It is probable that all parties would seem to be no less clear. The harvest may bring instead officials. The Italian government has doubtless taken advantage of a technical offence to its dignity to force a general settlement of outstanding questions.

British Labor Troubles.

Lord Rotherham, in the course of his presidential address at the opening of the second congress of Textile Institutes in Belfast, referred to the unrest in the Labor World. He said, that the most prominent trade union leaders in the country, and he was convinced that if they had a free hand to settle disputes strikes and lock-outs would be rare occurrences indeed. The trade union leaders were far-sighted men, and most of them took a broader outlook than did some of the rank and file. Unfortunately they were faced with these facts that sometimes trade unions got out of hand, and the advice of their leaders was disregarded, and they felt enormously multiplied the risks of rupture during the last twelve months.

Worst Trouble in South Wales

The other day in South Wales Mr. William Abraham, M.P., for Rhondda Valley, spoke out with splendid courage regardless of his own personal popularity and advised a course which he was convinced was in the interests of peace as well as in the ultimate interests of the men. When an enlightened and honorable trades unionist leader took so bold a line he deserved to be regarded by employers and workmen as a brave and fearless man of whom the nation, irrespective of class might well be proud. Fortunately his advice was taken, and further trouble in South Wales was avoided, to the disappointment, we dare say, of some wastrels and criminals as distinct from honest and law-abiding workers. It had been the waste and the criminal who had been exploiting most frequently the disturbances that had taken place lately in various industrial centres.

He demurred entirely to the claim that had been put forward by some so-called friends of labor, that all workers had a right to strike irrespective of the consequences to the community at large. He admitted that a good deal might be said for that contention in nine cases out of ten, but he thought that a strike might involve untold hardship and even endanger not only the health but also the lives of a good number of individuals who had no sort of connection with the matter in dispute. In a case of that kind he deprecated the idea that strikes should be allowed. Some of the recent strikes of the railwaymen and dockers had endangered the lives and health of innocent sufferers in many instances, and he thought they might have been removed out of the category of cases in which strikes were permissible because the consequences were so far-reaching.

Mr. Mark Sykes, M.P., delivering an address at the opening of St. Bede's Roman Catholic Grammar school, Bradford, said the government of this country was eventually to be in the hands of the people, and the better educated that people, the better the government of the country.

ford, said the government of this country was eventually to be in the hands of the people, and the better educated that people, the better the government of the country.

This country, he said, wanted a certain kind of man turning out in large quantities, and this was the fellow with his head screwed on the right way.

Hysteria in England
 Of course, he did not believe the Englishman ever had been the cool and calculating person he tried to make himself out to be, but at the same time he thought there were some that hysteria in this country was growing.

There was a craving for sensationalism, and a desire to throw at the letters of control.

Mr. Sykes said he was not referring to the strikes, the tendency affected the rich as well as the poor. There was growing up in this country a class hatred, and there again, the fault was just as much above as below. Recent troubles showed that in every class they were mutually independent, and unless people learned this they would not realize their destinies.

The report that the union government of South Africa has accepted a German tender for steel rails is confirmed by the officials of the high commissioner's office in London, with the explanation, however, that the successful tender secured the order in competition. Applications were invited in various parts of the world—Great Britain, Germany, Belgium, and the United States—some months ago, for 21,000 tons of steel rails for the purposes of several railway extensions in South Africa. Tenders were received from all the countries named, and as these sent in by a Düsseldorf firm were the lowest in price they were accepted by the government. The total amount of the order was nearly $950,000.

THE LATEST WORD IN WOMEN'S WEAR

Kimono Sleeve Is Now Certain to Survive the Season—New Neckwear Especially Smart—Oddities and Novelty in the World of Fashion

New York, Sept. 29.—The latest importations from Paris make it clear beyond a doubt that greater fullness in skirts is the latest dictum of the rulers of fashion. Of course, the change is by no means sudden. There is merely gradual transition, but it is noticeable even to the inexperienced eye. To be sure, the average frock is straight in line, but here and there one sees the double skirt, the triple skirt, the skirt of tiny frills and this note of fullness becomes more insistent as the season advances.

The great fashion designs of Paris are beginning to bring out models in which fullness has a decided place, narrow waists are seen on the lines of frocks fashioned of chiffon and gauze. The straight, wide hem and the hand of satin finishing skirts has claimed the attention of fashionable women for so long a time that a change of this sort immediately calls attention to itself.

There will undoubtedly be an effort on the part of the more progressive fashion makers to widen the skirts very perceptibly; but this is not likely to be taken up, at least during the early season. Frills of Valenciennes and narrow lace will go to give new skirts the desired fullness. Yet even these are soft enough to hang perfectly straight, but give a delightful froth effect, without actually volumizing in any perceptible degree the general lines.

A fairly model of flounced silk nuneh had a group of lace frills set close to the hem. The bodice was almost entirely of lace, with three overlapping frills of lace forming a fichu effect. A sash and girle of soft peach-pink satin completed this simple but handsome costume. Width is also introduced in some cases by slashing the skirt on the side from waist to hem and inserting an inverted point of some contrasting material or trimming. Pleats that lay under and only are noticeable when the wearer walks.

ish lingerie blouses, long sleeved, of course, and of many other blouses and bodices as well. This feeling for the long sleeve is as yet confined chiefly to imported models, and among the cheaper costumes blouses and frocks, one seldom sees a long sleeve, but there will probably be a change later if the foreign influence makes itself more accepted by the fashionable folk.

Among the handsome materials employed in the most recent models imported from Paris, superb brocades and velvets are conspicuous. A very large number of the most beautiful brocades have gold in combination with color, the gold being more or less in evidence according to the design. Sometimes one is but conscious of a gleaming thread here and there or of a general shimmer of the background upon which the design is woven. Sometimes the gold is more boldly handled, the design being in gold. These in vivid color are stunning under shadowy veils of plain diaphanous material, but the designers do not hesitate to use even the most gorgeous of the brocades unadorned in combination with plain monochrome material or lace.

New neckwear, keeping pace with other revivals, asserts itself in short, broad-plaited frills of black, white and color. Although these frills soon lose their freshness and beauty, they are becoming and will be more and more necessary with the prevailing fashion of milled, guimpes and clock collars. They are especially welcome to the woman who still clings to the round, collarless neck. Occasionally one sees these plaited frills tied with long velvet ribbons that reach below the waist line. Short-necked frocks of black velvet, often with a wide white collar, are much in vogue. The frills are particularly desirable in this connection.

There is nothing prettier than hemstitched white muslinette for collars and cuffs. For winter gowns and blouses it is charming, and is seen on many new models. One can make a set in an hour or two at home. The cost is insignificant and the effect charming. For those in morning white, the most desirable accessories are very pretty in blouses of chiffon or crepe, or on sleeve frocks.

The craze for the Pan o' Shaner hat is at its height. One example has a large, full crown of draped black velvet, mounted over a horn or band of skunk fur, the brim being quite broad and turned up at the sides. The hat is vanishing altogether at the right side. A full black velvet hat is expected to be the fashion of the coming season.

of gold brocade from which gold is suspended. Bygone designs in lace are expected to be one of the strongest features of the coming winter fashions.

DEVELOPMENT LEAGUE EXHIBITS ATTRACTIVE

Inquiries Respecting District Four Into Secretary's Office From All Quarters of Globe.

There is every indication that the campaign of the Central Alberta Development League through the exhibits that are being displayed at the principal fairs in Eastern Canada and the United States is going to be fruitful in inducing a large number of the very best class of settlers to come to Central Alberta, judging from the large number of enquiries regarding farm lands and business opportunities in Alberta being received daily at the central office of the league in Edmonton. Secretary Frederick Fisher received thirty-eight enquiry cards from people of many occupations (principally farmers, however) who had secured them from those in charge of the exhibits at the Michigan state fair at Detroit. Forty more cards were received at the central office today and in response to these literature will be sent out from every one of the 24 boards of trade affiliated with the Central Alberta Development League. It is done in this manner. Lists of the names of all enquirers who have sent cards to the central office are sent out to each of the boards of trade offices affiliated with the league. Literature is then sent out from each sub office descriptive of the advantages of the country in which it is located and the business openings of the town itself as well as from the central office, to which has been given the work of distributing the booklet describing Central Alberta.

By this means it becomes possible to attract settlers that might not be persuaded to come to the province. West in any other way. Each section of the province has its own advantages as well as a progressive, better receives literature descriptive of every part he is practically assured of finding something that will suit him.

The variety of occupations represented by those who are using the application cards to get Central Alberta literature is remarkable. Among the forty cards received at the secretary's office this morning were enquiries from farmers, contractors, automobile workers, bricklayers, doctors, deputy sheriffs, carpenters, railway firemen, painters, machinists, lawyers, wood workers, engineers, clerks and even from a sailing master on the great lakes. Farmers are in the majority among the enquirers, however.

The Northwest Mortgage company of Winnipeg has been incorporated with a capital of $2,000,000.

CITY HALL NOTES

Paving construction in Edmonton during the coming year will be carried out on a comprehensive plan. It is probable that the work will be advertised, and that a very large part of the central section of the city will be paved next season. Gravelly sidewalks construction will of course form a part of the program.

At the commissioners' meeting this morning the matter was discussed. The commissioners expressed the opinion that the paving of Jasper from Sixteenth to Twenty-first should be advertised at an early date, and Commissioner Gandy suggested that all the streets leading north from Jasper should be paved as far as the tracks. Syndicate should be paved to the boulevard.

Superintendent Griffith of the telephone department wrote the commissioners this morning asking that lot 1, block 39, Grand estate, be purchased for the purposes of a branch exchange. The price, $10,000 for half an acre, the commissioners considered high. The communication was laid on the table and the matter will be taken up at a later date. The property situated south of the tracks, which has been given the work of distributing the booklet describing Central Alberta.

The present installation of reciprocating pumps is in a very unsatisfactory condition according to Superintendent Huffman, who wrote the commission board this morning pointing out the deficiencies of the plant. It is now necessary to furnish steam to the gas plant from the boilers used for the steam installation, and section of the gas and steam plants is under these conditions impossible. In consequence, no accurate determination of the cost of the steam and gas plants can be obtained.

The commissioners awarded a contract for a motor driven circulating pump for the gas engine to Thomas, Clancy and Grindley. The price was $1,150.

Superintendent Knight of the street railway department has been granted leave of absence to attend the convention of the American Electric Railway association, which is to be held in Atlantic City from October 9 to 12. He will be away from the city for about twenty-one days.

On Monday the commissioners and city council will pay a visit to the quarry, some distance up the river, from which it is proposed the gravel supply for the temporary grading of streets, should be obtained.

In the Portage la Prairie district, the average crop yield is 25 and 30 bushels to the acre.

It is reported that the C.P.R. will build a steel steamer for service on Okanagan lake.

During July the customs and inland revenue collected in Revelstoke amounted to $11,351.

In the death of Mr. John Clarke, a pioneer, Kesh (B. C.), has lost an aged and honored citizen.

The government has rejected the city of Chilliwack not to dump its raw sewage in the Fraser river.

It is rumored that 6,000 Doukhobors will settle on Anarchist mountain, a few miles west of Greenwood.

The most extensive irrigation work in B. C. is now in progress near Kelowna in the Okanagan valley.

ARREST DETECTIVE ON PERJURY CHARGE

ALLEGED THAT HE FAKED AFFIDAVITS IN ATTEMPT TO SECURE CONVICTION.

(Western Associated Press.)

Regina, Sask., Sept. 29.—A sensational crime chronicle in the case which has been engendering the attention of Judge Johnston and a jury in the Supreme court for the past two days ends this afternoon in the acquittal of the prisoner, A. J. Bolton, of Kestler, and the arrest of Detective Crispin of the Phila. agency, the chief witness of the prosecution.

The crime with which Bolton was charged was that of setting fire to a grain warehouse at Kestler, Sask., on April 26, at 1:30 in the morning. In bringing in a verdict of "not guilty," the jury "disproved" the methods of securing the evidence which had been presented in court by Detective Crispin, and to say that we com-

YUKON PROMISES SOME DEFERRED EXCITEMENT

Dr. Thompson, Conservative Candidate, with George Black, Commissioner—A Hard Fight for Congdon

The almost unanimous nature of the recent verdict has put talk of liberal success on the shelf in all parts of Canada for a while, but the Yukon seems to promise another of the political scraps for which the Klondike gold field is famous.

In 1904 Dr. Thompson defeated Congdon and sat for the full term of the parliament elected on that date. Congdon, however, "came back" and in 1908 the past parliament, so much so that until the landslide of the 21st it looked like an acclamation for Congdon.

News from the coast, however, now is that Congdon and George Black left on the same boat for the north country and that Dr. Thompson had been nominated, for the conservatives. Thompson sat during a whole parliament and gave no indication that he was even an opponent of the government's Yukon policy, much less a conservative, but just as he was leaving the house before dissolution he declared, or rather renewed his conservative professions, but did not dare seek a nomination for the seat on his return to Dawson.

It was used against Thompson that a member of this council, which failed to say anything that the Conservatives would not like to do in the house and on his return to Dawson was appointed physician to the big monopoly with the province of having $1 per month on every man employed by the big Yukon gold company, which during the summer months ran $1,000 a month.

Thompson has also lost a little credit according to Yukon advisers by his work in connection with the smallpox epidemic during the last summer, the first case treated by Dr. Thompson and before it was discovered what the patient was suffering from, Dr. Thompson himself was stricken with the disease, and some of his other patients as well.

The coast advises that George Black is slated for the Yukon Commission which will be news indeed. Many are of the opinion that if the conservatives take out with appointments of this kind it will take only one term to land them in the condition they were in 1896. Black has been in Yukon many years and ran second to Congdon in 1908, and afterwards was elected to the Yukon council. While still under him guilty of a disloyal attempt to rob the accused of his liberty and soul money.

Detective Crispin, whom the jury's verdict so tremendously "disproved," produced five statements in court all signed by Bolton. The first two admitted nothing, the third confessed the entire crime, the fourth repudiated the confession, the fifth repudiated it.

Detective Crispin stated that all the statements were read over to Bolton before he signed them. This was denied by both Constable Gile, who witnessed the documents, and by Bolton himself. On the value of these alleged confessions the case rested. The Jury's verdict explained in detail their opinion of the documents and the man who obtained them.

In the course of the afternoon following the jury's verdict Crispin was placed under arrest by the mounted police, and it is understood will be charged with perjury.

Every evening 9,000 pounds of milk and cream are shipped from the Eden Bank creamery at Sarnia to Vancouver.

LOCATED COAL ON WINDFALL RIVER

EDMONTON SYNDICATE INTERESTED IN PROPERTY—PEACE RIVER LINE PROGRESSING.

J. B. Carlson, of the International Finance company limited, an Alberta corporation with offices on Jasper avenue, in which several Edmontonians are extensively interested, returned last night over the G.T.P. from a trip into the Upper Athabasca and the Mackenzie river countries, during which he made some locations which he believes will prove of immense advantage to the company which he represents.

On the Windfall river, which flows into the Athabasca, at a point within two miles of the Canadian Northern survey line, Mr. Carlson staked one thousand acres of coal which he describes as the finest coal he has seen in the Peace country. Outcroppings along the Windfall for miles there is a twenty-foot seam of a high grade of bituminous, a mile and a half of which he and the three prospectors he had with him at and which he believes can be made one of the greatest shipping mines in the country. Mr. Carlson brought samples with him to the city showing a very high grade of steam coal.

It is the company's intention to put a gang of men on this winter and do some development, but no attempt will be made to ship until the C.N.R. gets a spur into the property.

Mr. Carlson made the trip over the C.N.R. survey of the Peace River line, which he describes as tapping the finest mixed farming country in Alberta. From Grassy point has been found a considerable distance and it is quite possible that it will be completed to the Pembina before the new year.

In the Pembina river they are rafting lumber down to the point where the road crosses for the purpose of building a bridge. Beyond the Pembina the right-of-way issues are busy and the whole construction bears an air of haste which indicates that the C.N.R. is paying more attention to showing the Peace River line through than they are to the construction of the main line.

ROGERS MINISTER INTERIOR

(Western Associated Press.)

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—It is said to be practically settled that

Hon. Robert Rogers will be

Minister of Interior in new cabinet.

London, Sept. 30.—Having been an alderman for thirteen years and filled the office of sheriff for one term, Sir

Thomas Crosby, wealthy merchant and financier, today went through the ceremony of being elected Lord Mayor of the City of London.

He will be formally installed in office on November 9, when the honoured peasant known as the "Lord

Mayor's Show" will take place.

Unlike all others, great municipal titles, London's Lord Mayor is not chosen by the people, though there was once—some 200 or more years ago —when they really were elected by the citizens. But the alderman, who are elected for life, decided that a position

so exalted as that of Lord Mayor, should not be thrown open to outsiders and made dependent on popular favor.

So they fixed their eyes up so that every alderman, if he live long enough, is as sure of becoming Lord Mayor when his term comes. When Sir Thomas

Vesey Strong was elected last year, Sir

Thomas Crosby was "next" and now it is his turn to take the civic chair.

The system pleases the aldermen and does not make any difference to any body else. The office of Lord Mayor has long since been shorn of its once great powers and has become a mere figurehead title, though it is invested with more trifling dignity than any other post in England. No more violent contrast is to be found the world over than that existing between the various titles of the Lord Mayor. Theoretically, at least, the King of Great Britain and Ireland and Emperor of India cannot enter the city of London without his consent. Yet he spends a considerable part of each day dispensing justice upon the indolent and other petty offenders, who have broken the peace of the square mile of territory over which he rules. In addition to his duties as a magistrate he is required to attend probably five hundred public and semi-public dinners, balls, receptions and meetings of various kinds during the year he spends in the high office. For these duties he receives a salary equal to that of the president of the United States and twice as much as that of the prime minister of Great Britain.

Perhaps it is as well that the Lord

Mayor nowadays does not possess the supreme power of some of his early predecessors. The Mayor, who has

fourty to Henry III. for instance, had the tenacity to add, "My lord, so long as you are in this city, I will be your king, as well be faithful and dutiful to you." Then there was the Normal Mayor, who, being intervened by a member of the mob when reading what would now correspond to the not act, merely ordered the offender to be taken into a neighboring street to be beheaded and went to bed.

LONDON ELECTS A NEW LORD MAYOR

SIR THOMAS CROSBY WILL OCCUPY THE CIVIC CHAIR FOR THE ENSUING YEAR.

London, Sept. 30.—Having been an alderman for thirteen years and filled the office of sheriff for one term, Sir Thomas Crosby, wealthy merchant and financier, today went through the ceremony of being elected Lord Mayor of the City of London. He will be formally installed in office on November 9, when the honored peasant known as the "Lord Mayor's Show" will take place.

Unlike all others, great municipal titles, London's Lord Mayor is not chosen by the people, though there was once—some 200 or more years ago—when they really were elected by the citizens. But the alderman, who are elected for life, decided that a position so exalted as that of Lord Mayor, should not be thrown open to outsiders and made dependent on popular favor.

So they fixed their eyes up so that every alderman, if he live long enough, is assured of becoming Lord Mayor when his term comes. When Sir Thomas Vesey Strong was elected last year, Sir Thomas Crosby was "next" and now it is his turn to take the civic chair.

The system pleases the aldermen and does not make any difference to any body else. The office of Lord Mayor has long since been shorn of its once great powers and has become a mere figurehead title, though it is invested with more trifling dignity than any other post in England. No more violent contrast is to be found the world over than that existing between the various titles of the Lord Mayor. Theoretically, at least, the King of Great Britain and Ireland and Emperor of India cannot enter the city of London without his consent. Yet he spends a considerable part of each day dispensing justice upon the indolent and other petty offenders, who have broken the peace of the square mile of territory over which he rules. In addition to his duties as a magistrate he is required to attend probably five hundred public and semi-public dinners, balls, receptions and meetings of various kinds during the year he spends in the high office. For these duties he receives a salary equal to that of the president of the United States and twice as much as that of the prime minister of Great Britain.

Perhaps it is as well that the Lord Mayor nowadays does not possess the supreme power of some of his early predecessors. The Mayor, who has forty to Henry III. for instance, had the tenacity to add, "My lord, so long as you are in this city, I will be your king, as well be faithful and dutiful to you." Then there was the Normal Mayor, who, being intervened by a member of the mob when reading what would now correspond to the not act, merely ordered the offender to be taken into a neighboring street to be beheaded and went to bed.
